

Sourcewell Awards Contracts to Douglas Dynamics Brands WESTERN, FISHER, SnowEx and Henderson

Program allows nonprofits and government organizations to purchase equipment at competitive prices without bidding

MILWAUKEE - Douglas Dynamics, North America's premier manufacturer and up-fitter of commercial work truck attachments and equipment, has been awarded Sourcewell contracts for four brands: WESTERN, FISHER, SnowEx and Henderson. Nonprofit and government organizations who are Sourcewell members are now approved to purchase competitively-priced equipment from these brands without going through time-consuming bidding processes.

Sourcewell works to vet vendors who sell products to government organizations like municipalities, counties, DOT and educational institutions to ensure compliance, quality products, and a smooth purchasing process. These four Douglas Dynamics brands join a network of more than 300 approved vendors and 50,000 member organizations.

"We're thankful to join forces with an excellent organization that does important work in so many communities," said Pam Buckley, government sales and sustainability manager at Douglas Dynamics, LLC. "Now public purchasing agents have more options with our brands to equip their teams with quality products to get the job done right."

Sourcewell also offers its members the following benefits:

- Free membership
- Reduced equipment procurement time
- Availability throughout North America
- 40 years of experience and expertise

The four new contracts feature a wide range of snow and ice control products including snowplows, spreaders, sprayers, accessories and more. Below are links to each brand's Sourcewell contracts if you're interested in purchasing or learning more:
